Leah Silverman is a graphic designer with an emphasis on information graphics, business presentations and meeting documentation. Her company, DesignbyLeah, is based in the Pittsburgh area. She partners as a knowledge worker and graphic recorder with Alphachimp Studio, a company that specializes in visual learning and strategic planning.

Before working with Alphachimp, Silverman was the design manager for LaunchCyte, LLC, a biotech development company, where she created logos, brochures, business plans and web sites for the company and its portfolio startups. Prior to that, she managed a blues club for 11 years and marketed her beaded jewelry and hand-painted clothing to boutiques. She still maintains a strong affinity to the service and hospitality industry as a part-time bartender with the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust. In her spare time she is senior editor for Social Innovation Conversations, part of the Conversations Network, an online platform for podcast distribution.

Silverman has a Bachelor of Fine Arts from Carnegie Mellon University and is looking for some free time to complete the master's degree program in media arts at Chatham College.
